Cochise Commissioners In Session Today

The board of supervisors was in session today to canvas the primary election returns. The result of the count shows that Tovrea received the regular Cochise county majority always accorded her favorite sons. This lead is expected to pull him through and will probably make him one of the three state presidential electors to be voted on at the general election.

Another point brought out by the count is the fact the Bull Moose party easily led the republicans by nearly three to one.

There was no contest in the county precinct committeemen race and all candidates from various county precincts were declared elected.

Roosevelt Makes Two Speeches In Arizona

Roosevelt expected to make only one speech in Arizona, and that at Phoenix, but the Arizona Progressive committee protested and offered a special to take him to Tucson and back to Phoenix on time. The Colonel went.

He promised the people of Arizona that if he were elected he would call a special session of congress immediately in an effort to put into effect the "human welfare" plank in the progressive platform, so far as might be done by congressional action.

Roosevelt appealed to the Democrats in the south to stand by the Progressive party and asked their support to the strength of what he had done as president and what the progressives proposed to do for the reclamation of the arid lands such as were found in Arizona. He said the "houses and representatives of special privilege were rallying to the support of Wilson. The Archbishops and Penroses know," he said, "they can do nothing with Taft, that he's a dead cock in the pit, so are turning to Wilson."

The Colonel left last night for New Mexico and will speak at Albuquerque tonight.

Arizona Mountains to Be Stocked With Elk

Eighty elk are to be shipped from the Yellowstone National Park and liberated in northern Arizona.

A movement recently set on foot by Dr N. Looney, state health officer, to obtain elk for the forests and hills of Arizona has progressed to the stage where nothing but the formal consent of the department of the interior and a few hundred dollars to pay transportation expenses is required.

The commanding officer of the Yellowstone Park has written Dr Looney that the elk can be easily spared from that government reserve. Before the animals can be shipped the consent of the interior department is required, but he states that the consent should be easy to obtain.

Arizona, of course, will have to pay the transportation charges. The commissioner advises against the shipment of over forty elk in a car.

Line Chief L. Anderson of the Mountain States Telephone Co. was in Tombstone today looking over the condition of the lines of his company.

A reward of $5,000 U. S. currency was offered yesterday by James W. Macolson, consulting engineer for the El Tigre Mining company, for the bullion taken from the mine by General Salazar and his forces, when they left that camp Monday. The bullion is run in small octagonal bars, about twelve inches long and four to five inches in width and bread h. Each bar weighs 150 pounds and is valued at a little over $1,000, making the total value of the confiscated metal worth $25,000.

Frank Winters and wife arrived today from Miami and may conclude to again take up their residence in the only Tombstone.

Word received from the California hospital at Los Angeles conveys the welcome intelligence that C B Tarbell, formerly of this city, is much improved and is doing nicely since the last operation performed on him, made necessary through injuries received in a street car accident, an account of which was printed in these columns.

Wm. Wallace, superintendent of the La Princesa Mining company, operating near Chihuahua, Mexico, arrived last evening from Mexico on a visit to his wife and daughter who are recent refugees from Mexico. Mr. Wallace states many pueblos near his mines have been attacked and looted during the revolutionary troubles, but thus far the immediate mining camp has escaped attack except for sporadic visitations and sundry depredations.

That the El Paso and Southwestern will soon take action on the construction of the extension from Tucson to Globe and Miami, is the belief of J. T. MacArthur of the MacArthur Brothers company which had the grading contract on the Fairbanks-Tucson extension of the Southwestern.

Arizona State Tax Commission

The State Tax Commission is busy at Phoenix and will be for some days to come, determining the gross receipts of the express companies operating in the state of Arizona. Under the law, the commission has until the first Monday in October to get its data. The express companies will be assessed 5 per cent of the gross receipts, less the amount that is paid by them to the railroads for transportation.

Arizona's Big Cattle Shipment

It is expected that the Southern Pacific will handle about 25,000 head of cattle this fall on the shipments which go east from Arizona. G. L. Hickey, assistant superintendent of the Tucson division, says that a number of cattle are being brought in from Mexico and that the shipment will be quite large.

The shipment will start in about a month. There will be about 1500 cars shipped and each car will carry about 30 cows. Traffic has been picking up steadily for about a month on the Tucson division. It is not expected that the cattle shippers will have a hard time in getting cars for their shipments.

Suspicious Case of Infantile Paralysis

The illness of the 18 months-old son of Mr and Mrs Nick Rafalovich of Bisbee, has been pronounced by the health authorities as being "strongly suspicious of infantile paralysis."

The child awoke several mornings ago with a sore throat, and the left arm was paralyzed, but the disease has not manifested itself in any other symptoms, the child being apparently well otherwise.

Partial returns of the recent primary election in Arizona come from Phoenix. These returns show that E. A. Tovrea of Bisbee has jumped from sixth place in the race for the democratic nomination for Presidential elector, to third, the heavy vote he received in his home county enabling him to pass Lyander Cassidy, John R Hampton and George Babbitt.

The total vote polled by the different candidates, up to date, and their standing in the race is as follows:

Wiley E Jones 1055
W T Webb 875
E A. Tovrea 831
George Babbitt 777
John R Hampton 678
Lyander Cassidy 671
W A O'Connor 587
